

While working on this assignment, I could have reduced the amount of time I spent on it by starting the assignment earlier and taking better advantage of online resources.

Additionally, I could've followed the development process better to reduce time spent stuck on little things.

It was really cool and interesting to implement a GUI for this homework. The assignment provided a good mix of challenge and fun.