While working on this assignment, I could have reduced the amount of time I spent on it by starting the assignment earlier and taking better notes in class.

I'm not sure what the staff could have done to improve my learning experience with this homework. Perhaps having smaller checkpoints would encourage incremental learning.

It was cool to scale up implementation with this assignment and use our software on real data.